

CONVENTION OF HEARST PEOPLE

Independence League Resolves to Put Full State Ticket in the Field.

JEROME ROUNDLY SCORED RING OF BELLS AND TOOTING OF HORNS.

New York, Sept. 11.—The first state convention of the Independence league, of which William Randolph Hearst of New York is president, was called to order at 1 p. m. today by Max F. Ihmsen, chairman of the league's state committee. The long and important night session of the state committee with its controversy over the question of nominating all or any candidates, or of waiting the action of the democratic state committee and the continuation of this morning of the debate on that vital question, delayed the opening of the convention, which was called for noon. It was expected when the convention came to order that this afternoon's session would be comparatively short and perfunctory, confined to preliminary organization and the appointment of committees; that it would adjourn until this evening, and that the closing session would be held tomorrow evening without delay.

Bedecked With Flags.
The main entrance to the hall was liberally decked with flags and inside the hall was a mass of American flags. The front of every dais was draped with them and the stage was fairly ablaze with the national colors. At the back were the arms of the state of New York, surrounded with spread eagles and flanked on right and left by large portraits of Washington and Jefferson.

The opening session was characterized by greeting especially the name of Mr. Hearst and the name of the league. The speaker, who touched upon the freedom of the ballot, the permanence and truth of the principles of the declaration of independence, the revolt against bossism and the alleged frauds in the last New York city election.

Temporary Chairman Elected.
Willard A. Glenn of Syracuse was selected as temporary chairman. He delivered a speech in which he denounced corporation influence in legislation. He referred to Alton B. Parker, Mayor McClellan and ex-congressman Lemuel E. Quigg as "political figureheads," representing corporate interests, headed by Thomas E. Ryan, Eugene Belmont, whose statements were greeted with long continued groans, hoots and hisses.

The executive committee of the state committee met at the Gilsey house this morning, arranging the last details of the first meeting of the convention. It was given out that the committee meeting had not touched on the subject of whether or not to recommend any action on the position of fusion with the democratic state committee last night referred this subject to the committee on resolutions to be named today and thus the question goes before the convention.

Will Not Fuse.
The sentiment of the delegates today seemed to favor the names of a complete ticket by the Independence league. If the Democrats should choose to choose the league principles and its ticket, the delegates who were most outspoken on the subject declared they would be glad to welcome the Democrats' individuals at the polls.

When Mr. Glenn concluded the usual committees were appointed and an adjournment was taken until 8 p. m., not however, until after one motion to adjourn had been overwhelmingly voted down.

A New York City delegate sought to introduce a resolution to order an uproar of protests, amid which a motion was carried to refer the resolution to the committee on resolutions. The uproar by this time had become deafening, but in the midst of it the chairman managed to put a motion to adjourn until 8 p. m. and it was declared carried. The session closed amid great confusion.

Howling for Hearst.
The evening session of the convention was not called to order until 8 o'clock. The delegates came to the hall at night wearing shipping tags on their coats bearing the words, "a straight ticket." The galleries were filled to overflowing, and there was a great demonstration when one delegation paraded with banner which read: "We want a straight ticket."

Judge Samuel Seabury of New York was elected permanent chairman and William J. B. DeFord of New York permanent secretary. Judge Seabury, upon taking the chair, declared that the condition of both the political and the financial situation of the Independence league is a necessity. He said that the praiseworthy efforts of President Roosevelt (whose name he cheered), had been thwarted by influences controlling the Republican party. The reforms of the past year, he said, had been nullified by the casting out of the public affairs and the casting out of corrupt men now in office.

Cheered Thirty Minutes.
Just here Judge Seabury made the first mention of the evening of Mr. Hearst's name. "I have followed," he said, "a path which has been the remarkable outcome of the afternoon. The delegates jumped on chairs, waving hats and coats in the air. Finally in their enthusiasm the delegates tore down the large American flags which were so profusely used in the decorations and waved them aloft as the band played 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' Suddenly at this juncture the speaker rose and the vast audience joined in singing the national anthem. Then the cheers began again and the demonstration which started at 9:25 p. m. was not at an end until 9:32. The cheering, marching up and down the aisles, the blowing of horns, ringing of bells and singing had continued for just half an hour.

The Platform.
The committee on resolutions and platform reported through Clarence J. Sheara, its chairman. The platform sets forth the fundamental idea of the league as independent of those rules or corporation control and of any party subject to these. It declares for "a free vote and an honest count," and demands "a revision of the present dishonest and complex election law, a simplified ballot and a law providing for a recount in cases of fraud or mistakes."

The recent life insurance scandals are referred to at some length. Governor Higgins is denounced for failure to reorganize the state insurance department and new election of the insurance companies is favored in case the present officers in the reorganized department are not controlled through connivance of the insurance department is underhanded and illegal campaigning.

The platform declares that "a searching investigation of every executive department is due the public."

Jerome Scored.
District Attorney Jerome is attacked by name as follows:
"We express our deepest felt by all good citizens over the failure of District Attorney Jerome to prosecute criminally, regardless of their wealth or social position, those guilty of insurance frauds."
On the subject of public ownership the platform says:
"The Independence League believes in the public ownership of public utilities that are natural monopolies. Holding that no person or corporation is privileged to confiscate what rightfully belongs to the people, it stands for irreconcilable host-

Unspeaking Horrors Enacted in Streets and Houses of Siedlce, in Poland.

NO MERCY SHOWN JEWS
SOME FEAR OF AN OUTBREAK IN WARSAW.

Warsaw, Sept. 11.—With the sanction of the authorities, who provided an armed guard for the mission, the Associated Press correspondent this afternoon visited Siedlce, the scene of the murderous events of Sept. 8, 9 and 10. The railway station at Siedlce, when the correspondent arrived, was crowded with Jews, among whom were many starving women with infants in their arms. Almost on the moment there fell upon the frightened people the sound of rifles being fired in the town, which lies half a mile back of the station. A panic ensued, much trembling with fear and women imploring the soldiers for mercy, anticipating the slaughter of their loved ones and themselves. Gendarmes on guard at the station entered the waiting room and roughly ordered the people to be quiet, assuring them that their alarm was needless.

Saints' Pictures Displayed.
Proceeding to the town, the correspondent traversed Warsaw street, which presented a desolate aspect, the stores and shops being closed, and all of them showing signs of having been plundered. Pictures of saints were hanging outside the windows of many houses, mute appeals to the soldiery and looters to spare the inmates. Everywhere in the street were to be seen soldiers ready to fire on the least provocation. The streets were littered with Jews' hats, torn clothing and damaged carts.

The most severe damage had been done in Plenska street, where the houses were riddled with bullets, and in many instances walls had been demolished with cannon shot. Cows and goats, escaped from their pens, wandered through the streets aimlessly.

At the Victoria hotel the dining room had been despoiled of its furnishings and the doors of the guests rooms had been broken down and their contents thrown into the streets and burned. From this point the correspondent was obliged to turn back, shooting having recommenced. He was made prisoner by soldiers, but shortly afterwards released by the governor's order.

Anti-Semite in Control.
Refugees state that Governor Engelke was taken sick a week ago and that control of affairs in Siedlce then passed into the hands of Colonel Tuchanowski, an anti-Semite. The people at once began to desert the town, apprehending an attack upon the Jews. It is asserted that paid provocateurs so contrived matters that on Saturday the soldiery began shooting in the streets and bombarding houses, the occupants being forced to flee. To quicken the flames soldiers threw oil upon the burning houses. An army officer stumbling upon a wounded Jew, merely killed him as he reached the table and ate his provisions as they were spread upon the table.

Fired Upon Hospital.
Another refugee states that Saturday night the doctors at the Jewish hospital in Siedlce lit the gas in that institution preparatory to operating on the wounded who had been brought in, who numbered seventy, when without warning the soldiers in the street opened fire upon the hospital, killing two of the inmates.

As a man was taking his wife and newly-born child to a hospital they were fired upon by soldiers and the wife and child were killed.

A Jew ventured out of his house to bring some water for his thirsting infant. As he often has reached the door with a pail of water soldiers compelled him to empty the pail upon the ground. This was done eleven times. The twelfth time the father appeared with water, but as he reached the door he was shot and his body was washed his boots in the pail and made the children drink the befouled water.

Some Spared for $25.
In many cases the soldiers spared the lives of Jews upon payment of $25.

By actual count 149 corpses were picked up in the streets, and it is stated that as many more bodies are hidden in cellars. Only one Christian is known to have been killed, and so far as can be learned no soldiers were killed.

Trainloads of fugitives are leaving Siedlce for the south.

The mention of the Jews who begged permission of a military officer to search for his parents, was kicked away by the officer.

The undisciplined soldiery acted with utility to appropriation by corporations of franchise values created by the community and belonging to the community. Respect for local rights and home rule should authorize the enactment of a statute empowering all cities to acquire and operate public necessities.

Corporations Denounced.
In conclusion, the platform says:
"Honesty in public service, the rule of the majority, equality before the law, recognition of the welfare of the whole, independence of people, opportunity in business, freedom of government from the grasp of a few, and the maintenance of principles for which the Independence League is prepared to battle."

The platform was adopted.

The mention of District Attorney Jerome's name in the reading of the platform called forth prolonged groans and hisses.

Snub for Congress.
Max F. Ihmsen presented to the convention the communication from William J. Conners of Buffalo asking that the Independence League defer making its nomination until the Democratic convention at Buffalo, Sept. 25. It was referred to the committee on resolutions with instructions to draft a suitable reply and with the further instruction that it was the sense of the convention that a full state ticket be nominated.

The closing session was all but pandemonium, dozens of the delegates being on their feet at a time, all shouting for recognition, but without action resulting. One delegate got the stage and pleaded in the name of the eight-hour law that he had not twenty-four hours practically to spend in the convention, and the chair got order enough to put the motion to adjourn until 8 p. m. tomorrow. This was carried amid great confusion at 11 o'clock.

HORRORS OF SIEDLCE.

Jews the Principal Victims of the Soldiers' Rage.

Warsaw, Sept. 11.—The correspondent of the Associated Press interviewed a refugee from Siedlce today. The man said: "I was staying Saturday night at the Kupiecki hotel in Siedlce. Suddenly, at 9 o'clock in the evening, I heard two shots, which were at once followed by a heavy firing. In a few moments a number of Jewish women and children rushed into the hotel, shouting the soldiers were shooting and killing. They were then crowded into a room and the door was closed. The only noise from the streets was the crying and wailing of the wounded. Several soldiers passed the house singing martial songs. I learned that troops were beating the houses to discover members of the terrorist band. To this end they went through the Victoria hotel and the houses in the vicinity. They got drunk rapidly and coming out on the streets, began wholesale murder and plunder."

Terrorists Threw Bomb.
"At 2 o'clock Sunday morning terrorists who were defending a house on Plenska street threw a bomb at the soldiers. Balloons were brought into play and bombarded the house on Plenska street. Refugees were fleeing through the streets and as they ran the soldiers constantly fired volleys at them."

I ran with the others and managed to reach a church in safety. Here 20 fugitives, most of them wounded, already had congregated.

This was at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. I had passed down Sokolowska and Polowa streets and found that the market place had been burned.

Refugees Starved Out.
"At the end of two days lack of food and water forced the refugees in this church to leave it. We made our way through streets covered with debris. There were many dead bodies everywhere and some lying about. We finally reached the village of Roskosze."

At the end of the families in Siedlce who barricaded themselves in their houses out of fear of soldiers have now been three weeks without supplies. The wounded have not been cared for by the soldiers and will not permit physicians to enter the town.

This refugee would not give his name, as he feared persecution by the police.

Story of a Hebrew.
A Hebrew refugee escaped from Siedlce with his wife and two wounded children and a small hardware store on Plenska street. Saturday at midnight the store was broken into and the goods were stolen. The man who was hiding in the garret, the artillery fire in Plenska street made it necessary for him to get out of the store. He was then taken to the floor and killed Monday night. Then the fire was so severe that we were forced to flee. We made our way through the streets and the children were wounded. When we reached the fields we were almost starving.

Other refugees declare that the principal plunderers were reservists who passed through Siedlce on Monday on their way home.

SEARCH FOR TERRORISTS.
Houses at Warsaw Ransacked and Many Jews Arrested.

Warsaw, Sept. 11.—In a search for terrorists here last night some 200 houses were ransacked by soldiers and police. The fire had gained too much headway before the department arrived, and the barn was burned to the ground.

UNION DEPOT GROUNDS.

Work of Beautifying Them to Begin at Once.

It was officially announced yesterday that the work of paring the Union depot grounds would be commenced by the last of this week. The grading work will be done by the Corey Construction company of this city, and the heavy stumps of trees north to ship the horses necessary to haul the material and other work. A new feature of the work is that in the place of fences there will be a concrete curb around both plots. The walks and driveways about the depot will be of granite gravel, so as to do away with the dust. On the north the part to be parked will be 270 by 150 feet, and will extend as near Twenty-fourth street as it is expected that the new freight house will allow. The largest part of the work of grading will be necessary on this end. The south portion of the park will be 100x550 feet and will be up to the walk on Twenty-sixth street. This portion of the property is practically level, so that there will be little or no grading to do. The entire work will be pushed as rapidly as possible after it has been started. The first appropriation to cover the initial expense has been made by the railroad people.

The train was in charge of Jenkins, one of Farley's right hand men, who took one of the trains west. According to the statements of the men on the train last night there was no disorder on the return trip, although considerable trouble was made against the food passed out by the commissary department.

The men were still boastful and said that had they had the opportunity they would have run the cars in San Francisco even if they would have had to lay down their lives. The strike party was turning will be taken across the continent in small lots of two or three cars, which will be moved on the regular trains.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY

Changes Will Be Made in Corps of Teachers—More Room Needed.

HIGH SCHOOL'S BIG GROWTH

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH STARTS CLASSES SAME DAY.

Only a few days remain of the long vacation of the Salt Lake public schools, which has lasted this year from June 1 to Sept. 17. This last period is curtailed for the teachers by a meeting to be held Saturday morning, but for the young people, who, more than 18,000 strong, will return to the school room Monday next, there will be no curtailment of the measure of these last few days. Three months and a half of rest and recreation has been none too much in their opinion, and the last days of freedom must be made much of.

The University of Utah also will open next Monday. Entrance examinations will begin today, and registration of students will start Friday.

Despite the fact that great increase has been made in facilities, the Salt Lake public schools will open lacking room for the children. The two new buildings added during the summer are not nearing completion and will probably not be ready for occupation until mid-year. The one in the northwest is designed for a relief to the Jackson, and to do away with the overcrowding in the Jackson and the Union must be used and the Jackson must remain crowded.

Better conditions exist in regard to the Utah, in the southwestern part of the city, where four or five good rooms have been secured for the opening of school and until the new building is completed.

Waterloo Already Provided.

The one new district of Waterloo which has been added to the city schools is already in possession of a good modern building and here five teachers will be added to the corps will be stationed. Including these five there will be an increase of over a score of teachers, the number of which will be in the High school. This will make a teaching force of over four hundred.

Besides the additional teachers in the grades and the High school, a new supervisor has been added to the corps, John Welch, formerly of the training school, taking the work of supervising the grammar grades. Mr. Welch and the other supervisors have been on duty already since Sept. 5, and with the principals are working daily on the arrangements for the year.

Howard Driggs of the University of Chicago is to take the place made vacant by the removal of Mr. Welch from the training school, and will take the place of three other new teachers in that school.

Changes at High School.

The most noticeable changes have been made at the High school, where it has been found necessary to divide assembly room into two large rooms in order to accommodate the great number of freshmen who will enter. Enrollment will be closed for today and will continue for last three days of the week, so that everything will be in readiness for work Monday morning. The new building will be ready for the opening of the school. The arrangement will decrease the assembly room facilities it will give adequate class room for the whole number of pupils.

Five new teachers are to be added to the faculty two in English, one in the commercial department, one in science and one in Latin.

It is roughly estimated that the enrollment for the new school year will be thirteen hundred mark. The registration for pupils expecting to enter the High school and for the old pupils will be in the morning and from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The registration will continue until Friday afternoon.

Kindergarten Crowded Out.

The change made in the Unibn school will do away with the kindergarten begun last year, who have been crowded out of the room used for this purpose will be one of those taken for the High school. Just where the kindergarten will be placed has not yet been determined.

Few changes have been made in the placing of the principals and the teachers with their locations will not be known until tomorrow. J. O. Gross, who has been principal of the Wasatch school since in completion will be given a large field in the Union school, while W. S. Wallace, formerly of the Union, goes to the Summit. Van Cott of that school will have charge of the Wasatch. With these few changes the principalships will remain the same as heretofore.

Private Schools Opening.

Rowland hall will open this morning in its temporary school room on B street. The work on the new building is progressing rapidly, and it is hoped that it may be done by Thanksgiving, or at the latest by the Christmas holidays. A corps of fourteen teachers will begin this morning the work of classification, the enrolling having been completed yesterday. One hundred and thirty-five pupils are enrolled, forty-four boarders and the remainder day pupils.

All Hallows is in working order, having opened a week ago today. The enrollment has already reached 115, and it is expected that it will continue to increase all the rest of the month. There are now twelve teachers in the faculty, the latest addition being Miss John F. Toomey of the University of Chicago, who will have charge of the English and higher mathematics. Nearly half of the enrolled pupils are boarders and the remainder day pupils.

The Collegiate Institute opened Sept. 5 with a faculty of five and a four-story school nearly all of the pupils being boarders. Gordon Academy has also been in running order for a week, but will continue to enroll pupils for some time longer. With the new principal, E. B. Clark, it has a faculty of seven.
